About MCAA 101

Municipal courts serve hundreds of people who enter courthouses and other facilities seeking justice on a full range of issues. Those tasked with running municipal courts must have the knowledge and training to provide fair and accurate service to each person that comes through the court system. The Municipal Court Administration of SC training courses, known as MCAA 101, provide municipal court administrators, clerks of court and other court staff with the skills critical to running and administering the duties of a municipal court. This training will provide necessary background on the court system, as well as additional topics that will assist municipal court officials with their everyday tasks.

The training is available through three sessions throughout the year, with different topics addressed at each two-day session. There is not a requirement to attend all three sessions. The training is approved by the SC Court Administration, but is not eligible for continuing legal education credit, known as a CLE, or other certification hours.

About the Instructors

Pam Larson, Clerk of Operations, City of Greenville

Pam Larson is currently clerk of operations for municipal court. She has worked for the City of Greenville for 25 years. Larson started as a police officer working in the Uniform Patrol Division and then moved to traffic. She moved to the court in 1998. While working for the court, she obtained her Bachelor of Liberal Arts with an emphasis on business administration from Furman University. Larson also acquired a dual master's degree in management and human resource development. Her thesis was based on a business model she designed for court that gained recognition by the National Center for State Courts. Larson left the city for two years to work for Spartan Technology Solutions as an operations manager, which included supervising the support staff, implementing software and records management projects and handling sales and marketing. She has been a member of MCAA since 2011.

Kirsten Pressley, Clerk of Court, City of Greer

Kirsten Pressley is the clerk of court and administrative judge for the City of Greer. She began her career with the city in 1995 working as a uniform patrol officer, and received her degree in criminal justice in 1996. In 1998 she moved to the Greer Municipal Court and became a court clerk. In 2006 she was named the interim court administrator and administrative judge, eventually taking over those positions permanently in 2007. Under Pressley's leadership, the Greer Municipal Court won the 2015 City of Greer Achievement Award for the development and implementation of its Domestic Violence Court. Pressley has been a member of MCAA since 2006, serving in various roles on the board.
