Project Overview

9

Approach

Engage our community of diverse citizens in conversations which lead to measurable actions that further strengthen Citizen/Police relationships. These actions will be rooted in Procedural Justice principles wherein:

- Community members feel that police procedures and processes are fair and equitable, and
- Community members feel heard, treated with respect and dignity so they understand "the why" which allows them to accept procedural outcomes they don't agree with or like.

3

Public Safety

The combination of effective policing services and community engagement that creates a safe, secure, and livable city.

4

Individual Rights

The ability for people, regardless of their individual circumstances, positions, or authorities, to be treated with fairness, equity, and dignity and respect based on the rights and freedoms prescribed under the US Constitution and other relevant laws, regulations, and societal norms.
